THE NEWS OF THE WEEK.

A Daily Resume of Latest Happenings.

OCTOBER 17.

Judge Allen Hyden, of Hoggsville, who was shot from ambush a few days ago, is dead as the result of his wounds. The Owensley county officers are making every effort to run down the assassins.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Yorkes has consented to make a number of speeches for the Kentucky Republicans during the next two weeks. He will speak in the Third, Sixth and Ninth Districts.

In closing a speech at Williamstown in the interest of Judge Fayette and the Hon. D. Linn Gooch, Judge James D. Black, of Harlanville, announced that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

It is positively stated on Wall Street that Secretary Shaw has completed negotiations for the purchase of $15,000,000 of 4 per cent. bonds. It is also said that within two weeks an offer of $10,000,000 of the same class of bonds will be accepted.

The Kentucky Bankers' Association held its closing session at Paducah. S. K. Sneed, of Henderson, was elected president. There was a lively debate on the Fowler Banking Bill, which resulted in the association endorsing certain features of the measure.

Col. A. L. Mills, superintendent of the West Point Military Academy, in his annual report states that during the past season there was only one case of hazing. The guilty person was dismissed. To stamp out malaria, has been applied to all places where there is standing water.

Capt. John C. Capers, United States District Attorney in South Carolina and Republican National Committeeman, is opposed to the strict "Lily White" idea. He states that there is no good reason why the Republican party in the South should be wholly white and that there is every reason why it should not be wholly black.

Operation of the anthracite mines is expected to be resumed about next Thursday or Friday. Members of the miners' executive board met yesterday in Wilkesbarre and called delegate convention for 10 o'clock Monday morning, with the recommendation that the proposition to submit all differences to the arbitration commission named by the President be accepted.

La Souffriere, after several hours of ominous growls, was in terrible eruption Wednesday. Immense quantities of sand and rock were heaped up. Kingsdown and the other southern points of the island were uninjured, but no reports had been received from the Windward district. A large mass-meeting had been held at Kingsdown, vigorously protesting against being removed to Jamaica, and asking that Sir Robert Dilewellyn be appointed as Governor.

Secretary of State Hill has forwarded to the County Clerks of the State the certificates of the nominations of candidates to be voted for in November. Several candidates, including P. H. Darby, Republican nominee for Appellate Judge, and C. H. Linn and Leslie T. Applegate, Republican nominees for Congress, failed to file certificates with the Secretary of State. Secretary Hill thinks this provision of the law is not mandatory, but says it will depend on the County Clerks as to whether these names get on the ballots.

Consular reports to the State Department present the following important commercial facts: Freight freights are in Germany, because under them export trade has increased and import trade has diminished. The early removal of British Columbia's export duty on lumber is attracting American mills across the border and largely prospering the Canadian lumber trade. The character of vehicles in Chili continues primitive. The prospect for importation of American bicycles to the Netherlands is not bright.

OCTOBER 19.

President Mitchell, of the Mine Workers' Association, gave J. P. Morgan credit for an endeavor to settle the coal strike over since his return from Europe. He said the financier had been "fair and reasonable." The operators are said to have determined to increase the cost by fifty cents a ton at the mines. The sum of fifteen cents a ton is expected to go to the miners as an increase in wages.

It contemplates incorporating in his message to Congress some of the points brought out in the findings of the Board of Arbitration.

Circuit Judge Parker, of Fayette county, yesterday ordered the Sheriff to summon a special grand jury to meet in Lexington next Wednesday. While the subject is not stated in the order, it is understood that the jury is summoned to investigate the murder of A. H. Chinn by Earl Whitney and Claude O'Brien. Mr. Chinn's will was offered for probate in the Fayette County Court yesterday. It was dated August 21, 1907, and bequeathed all his property to his wife during her lifetime, the estate to be divided between his children after her death. The condition of A. H. Chinn's will is serious.

The report of the Commissioner of Immigration shows that 618,718 immigrants arrived in the United States during the past fiscal year. Italy led with 178,375, an increase of 14,270; Austria-Hungary second, 171,980, increase of 58,599; Russia third, 107,417, increase of 22,600; Arrivals from Ireland were 28,138, a decrease of 1,123. Only two-thirds of 1 per cent. were refused admission. Of the total number of immigrants 162,188 were unable to read or write, but 71,963 of those were under 14 years of age.

La Souffriere's last outbreak did vast damage in the windward district of the island. Territory which had been supposed to be beyond the volcano zone was greatly damaged, and sand destroying thousands of economic plants. The situation is critical. Two earthquakes shocks were felt yesterday in St. Vincent, Tenn.

After seven days of hard fighting near La Victoria, President Castro, of Venezuela, has defeated the revolutionary forces under Gen. Mendoza and forced them to retreat in the direction of Villa de Cura. President Castro claims that it was a sweeping victory, and says the casualties in the rebel camp numbered 4,000.

President Roosevelt has not abandoned the idea of visiting Mississippi this fall.

OCTOBER 20.

The Austrian Government is preparing a bill—the first of its kind in Austria—in combination with Germany.

Many signatures of Abraham Lincoln have been cut from the records in the office of the County Clerk at Paris, Ill.

United States Minister Haven has reported to the State Department that the recent battle near Victoria was indecisive.

Firebombs attempted to destroy the city of Wheeling, W. Va. Twelve fires of incendiary origin occurred in the space of three hours.

The advance in the price of Indiana coal has started talk at Indianapolis of proceeding against the Indiana Coal Operators' Association.

A dispatch from Wilmington, N. C., tips Warren D. Elliott, of the Atlantic Coast Line, as president of the combined system, including the Atlantic Coast Line and the Louisville and Nashville.

A Kansas City woman has recovered by law from the Rock Island Railroad Company the sum of fifty cents paid a transfer company as storage charges. An appeal was taken, and the case will probably go to the Supreme Court.

Both Democrats and Republicans profess satisfaction over the registration in New York City and State, and each side claims the victory in the coming election. In difference has prevailed among the voters up to this time.

The merging of the coal mining companies of Indiana into one concern is expected to be consummated by January 1. The proposed company is to be capitalized at $25,000,000. John W. Gates is said to be interested in the movement.

The legality of overcapitalization will be tested in the suit against the reorganization of the Chicago and Alton railroad, which comes up in Chicago today. It is charged that the reorganization was on the "water plan." The Harriman purchase price was about $15,000,000, while the stock market value of the railroad is $20,000,000.

A paroled prisoner he could not marry a lady who, it is said, reciprocated his affections. He and his brother, Cole Younger, had been at large for several months. The dead man was fifty-four years of age.

The only serious problem expected to confront the miners' delegates who will meet today at Wilkesbarre for the purpose of declaring off the strike, is that of securing old places. The operators are in record with the assertion that no workmen who have remained during the strike will be removed. Strike leaders are confident that the arbitration proposition will be accepted and that mining will probably be resumed on Thursday.

His Life in Peril

"I just seemed to have all gone to pieces," writes Alfred Lee, of Wellfleet, Tex., "hellionism and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to work. Electric light, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sickly, run down people. Try them. Only 50¢ a box. A. M. ### Obituary

"Blessed are they who die in the Lord."

Miss Little Hatchison, youngest daughter of Vinton Hatchison at Edinburg, Ky., passed from this life October 7th at the home of Clara Warren, Buchanan, Ky. after an illness of five days. She was teaching in the public school at this place when she was taken sick. During her short illness she suffered excruciating pains, scarcely had a moment's rest. She had the attention of two excellent physicians, her sisters and many other friends who did all that human hands could do, but their efforts were of no avail. The Master wanted her for some purpose which we are unable to understand. Miss Birdie was a young lady whose character was above reproach, she was loved by all who knew her, her life was so pure that many of her intimate friends regarded her as a Christian. She had been brought up in a Christian home, her father and mother had both gone to the land of eternal rest when she was quite young. Soon after she was taken sick she layed her, having never heard from her lips that she was a child of the King. Her last words were to put all her trust in the Lord Jesus Christ. She at once saw the danger and like an honest girl began to think and act upon my advice. She immediately called her trusted physician and inquired of him if she was in danger. He like an honest physician, gave her the benefit of the doubt. She at once sent for Rev. C. Dean an old favorite friend of the family who came and administered to her spiritual welfare. She became an earnest seeker greatly interested about her soul, and realized that she must be born again. The disease seemed to be gaining ground every moment. I was summoned to her bedside by her earnest request. We had prayers and did all we could to comfort and encourage yet she could not receive the blessing which she so much desired. On Sunday night her request had prayers and songs, her interest for her soul deepened, her cravings for the baptism of the Holy Spirit knew no bounds, at times she expressed fears, she spoke of the darkness of the night and the awful gloom which hung over her, she said "Oh I am afraid that Jesus will not come and that I shall die before the morning and will miss Heaven and never see my saluted mother and father." She was assured that Jesus was present ready to bless her, she was administered to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and she would be saved. For a few moments there seemed to be an awful suspense, the whisper of prayer could be heard all about the room, she was bid to let go and fall into the arms of the Savior. She did so and light from the eternal throne broke forth and filled her soul with unspeakable joy. It would be useless to undertake to describe what followed. All Heaven and earth seemed joined together in praising Him who sits upon the throne of everlasting peace.

After her season of joy she began to persuade her kindred and friends to meet her in Heaven. She divided her earthly effects, gave all instructions as to her burial preparations, funeral and burial. She selected Rev. French Lee to preach her funeral. Rev. C. Dean and others to follow with appropriate remarks. The funeral was preached at her home to a large congregation. The services were touching in the extreme, the body was laid to rest in the family grave yard near her father and mother.

OPEN TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

As already announced, the Big Sandy News has arranged for its subscribers to take part in a contest in which $25,000 is to be paid to those who make the nearest correct estimates as to what the total vote of New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan will be in the races for Governor next November. Read our big advertisement and find out all about the plan. The vote of these states for several years past is given thereto, so that all may be saved the trouble of looking the matter up.

It was originally our intention to allow an estimate only with each dollar paid on advance subscription, but we have now decided to allow an estimate with each $2.00 paid on back subscription before Nov. 1st. Also, every subscriber who pays up in advance and procures one or more estimates with same, may enter as many additional estimates as he desires at the rate of 50 cents for each estimate, or $1.00 for three.

Numbers on our premium offer which has been standing for some time will not be given with any payment that is accompanied by an estimate.

It is costing the News no small amount to furnish its subscribers with this great privilege and the terms prescribed will not be varied from in the least for any one.

The earlier your estimates are in the greater the prize will be if you are the nearest estimator.

POULTRY AND BEEKEEPING MACHINE.

How Any Ingenious Farmer Can Conceal a Turning Lathe with a Sewing Machine.

Every farm should have a tool room and machine shop of more or less size. A very convenient machine for doing various kinds of repair and other work is a turning lathe. At little expense a sewing machine may be easily put to service, as the illustration portrays.

Take the mandrel that works the needle of an old worn-out sewing machine out, with the pulley and balance wheel on, as shown at d and e, Fig. 1; also drive wheel and treadle. Attach drive wheel to pulley, and let it run. The mandrel is inserted and on which it revolves; see Fig. 2. The mandrel is lashed to post b. Fill half way on mandrel and let cool; then fill one inch above mandrel, putting a small stick to make a hole for oil. If the mandrel is of steel, have a blacksmith flatten the end, as at f. If cast, have holes drilled in pitman wheel and threads cut in pitman pin like e, f, to hold wood in lathe, as shown by dotted lines in Fig. 1. This lathe is intended only for small work, as the power is not sufficient for heavy work. J. D. Magruder, in Farm and Home.

LATHE FROM SEWING MACHINE.

KEEP THE PULLETS.

The Wise Poultryman Can Reap a Rich Harvest by Being Conservative.

Prices of eggs sold up well and there is no reason why they should be lower till next spring, even if they are then. In fact there is every indication that they will be higher right along. Every keeper of hens, whether a small flock or a large number, ought to plan to reap a harvest from this fact.

The first thing to do is to keep the mouthing hens to get their new dress on just as soon as possible; give them good, dry quarters at night and a chance to get to such during the day should it rain. Feed liberally with a variety of food including some linseed meal, sandpaper seed or green cut home. The next thing to do is to keep all the likely pullets.

Do not be led into selling a single pullet just because the prices for spring chickens are good. A pullet well fed from now on will gain in flesh or weight till she begins to lay, then for awhile her keeping is at a daily profit.

When she is through laying, if you are disposed to sell her she will bring you nearly as much, if not just as much on the market as a hen as she will now as a spring chicken. That's an advantage the pullet has over the cockerel. As he grows from a spring chicken to a rooster he loses in price as he increases in weight, and in the vast majority of cases is a useless boarder all the while. Get rid of as many of them as you can spare at once and make room for the pullets.

They've decided what pullets are worthy of being wintered, feed them from now on to produce growth and eggs. Be liberal with your feed, and if the fowls are running at large a feed of corn just before going to roost will not make them overly fat. A poor, scrawny hen is not likely to produce many eggs.

When we advise saving every likely pullet we mean the late hatched ones as well as the early ones. They will all keep growing till they lay off and are as suggested above. The early hatched ones should begin to lay in a few weeks now and the others should follow right along as they reach the proper age.

Keep the pullets.—Farmer's Voice.

Don't Neglect the Hens.

The man who neglects his hens merits the severest punishment from his friends, says the Maine Farmer. Hens are willing servants, but the man must get their friendship and keep on the sunny side of their disposition. You cannot order the eggs and have them forthcoming, neither can you "shoot" the hens on to the nest and get eggs. Somehow the idea prevails that a pull of mask and dish of grain are all that is necessary to insure faithful service, whereas these simply sustain life. It is the little attentions, the fussy things which pay. Clean pens, sweet laying boxes, fresh air, pure water, a shady place for the nest and a few scattered corns constitute some of the steps necessary before the largest production can be expected.

Beautiful Complexions.

Are spoiled by using any kind of preparation that fills the pores of the skin. The best way to secure a clear complexion, free from sallowness, pimples, blotches, etc., is to keep the liver in good order. An occasional dose of Heald's will cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, and so establish a clear, healthy complexion, 50c at A. M. Hughes.

PLEA FOR BEEKEEPING.

There is No Good Reason Why Every Farmer Should Not Keep a Few Hives.

Marle Aiken, in the Agricultural Epitomist, has much to say in favor of beekeeping, and regrets that few farmers keep them than in former times. She says: "I know that it is claimed by some writers that the honey crop is on the increase. Perhaps it may be in one way. On a large scale here and there private enterprise may be furnishing much of the honey for the city markets, but which I speak of relates to the keeping of enough bees for our own home use. Almost every farmer in the old days provided his own table with the healthiest of sweet foods, but in these days he does without. It is yet what is raised on the farm which so amply pays for itself, with so little labor and outlay of feed, as bees? I can remember hearing old ladies say that the eating of much honey was a preventive of cancer. I cannot say as to its medicinal qualities in this line, but it will allay inflammation and thus cure many diseases of an inflammatory character along the digestive tract.

"Why do not more people keep bees? There was a time when old-fashioned hives and cross bees might have frightened some people away from the industry, but now bees are progressing along the line of civilization and education. They seem to understand that the sting, and the poison it conveys, was not given them to go to battle with, but to add the drop to the honey which keeps it from spoiling. Italian bees are singularly docile in this line; the Syrian bee still more so. There are types of honey bees in South America that do not sting at all, but as yet they will not live in this country. It is very likely that some time, by crossbreeding, we can get them acclimated. The Italian bee, taken all around, is our favorite bee. Its tongue is long enough to dip even into the red clover for honey. It will crawl into flowers that other bees, especially the black bees, shun. It will work on days so cold that other bees would not think of venturing out.

"While there seems to be natural born bee workers and persons born immune from bee poison, yet anyone if he would only make up his mind could have bees. The boxes should be set facing new trees. Here the bees, will make a first stop, and a very young person, either girl or boy, can readily learn how to get them into an empty hive which should always be ready for such cases in swarming times. A good bee veil and smoking pipe are the main requisites. A bee soon scouts a nervous person and resents being handled in a shaky way. Another thing, a bee on business instead of stinging. After they swarm there is little danger of stings, just as there is little danger when the bee is loaded with honey."

COMFORTABLE COOP.

It Consists of a Dry Goods Box with an Old Window for the Front or Door.

When the chicks are about 24 hours old, I put 20 with one hen and place them in a dry goods box which has an old window for the front so that on stormy weather and cold nights they can be shut in with just a crack for air. It has a good floor, which is necessary for early chicks.

HOthouse COOP.

In bright days I let them out in the middle of the day. The chicks are not fed before 24 hours old. Then they are given meal mixed with sour milk or water. If the feed is fed as soon as mixed, and is allowed some time to swell and is then fed warm. Chicks are fed four times a day until they weigh two pounds, and after they are a few weeks old cranked corn is fed at night. The accompanying illustration shows a picture of the coop.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Among the Poultry.

Dry ground is the best floor for a poultry house.

Meat in the ration stimulates the hens to lay freely.

Force the hens to molt before the cold weather is on.

Hens that are good at laying are seldom good at sitting.

The hen that is made or let to become too fat will lay no eggs.

Without occasional infusion of new blood the flock tends rapidly to scum.

The care you give during October makes or unmakes your hens for next winter.

Except in the mating season, the hens and pullets are better off separate from the males.

It isn't at all necessary to have a fine or fancy poultry house. Comfort is all that is needed.

The best fowls are none too good during the month of September and October. The Big Four Route is much the best line having three gateways, Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis, making connections in Union Depots and avoiding transfers as via other lines.

Write to the undersigned for further information. Reclining chairs free west of Chicago and St. Louis. Tourist Sleeping Car Reservations made in advance, and through tickets and checks furnished. Don't fail to take advantage of this low rate.

FOR CONGRESS

JAMES N. KEHOE.

of Mason County.

FOR CONGRESS, 10TH DISTRICT,

F. A. HOPKINS, of Floyd County.

When Hopkins joins Kehoe in Congress, won't Big Sandy be right in the push? They'll have to dam this river or else look up these Congressmen.

Petitions from Boyd and Lawrence counties have been presented to the judicial district committee, asking them to change the date of the convention.

The picture man has been very kind to Mr. Castner, in printing his name under such a good-looking portrait. Those who have never met the gentleman, would, upon seeing him, conclude that he was just recovering from a severe spell of illness, so little does he resemble the picture.

The harvest machine combine, under the name of the American Harvester Company, is reported to be rapidly near completion. It will have a capital of $12,000,000, and $65,000,000 has been raised to finance the scheme. The farmers will "pay the freight," Kehoe is opposed to all the trusts.

Hon. F. A. Hopkins is making it warm for his opponent in the Tenth district. White and sent out circular letters to precinct leaders instructing them to corral the Republican voters in "blocks of ten" and take them to the polls. Mr. Hopkins has had these circulars published and also uses them as a text for speeches.

Mr. Castner, Republican nominee for Congress in this district, failed to properly comply with the law in filing a certificate of his nomination, and his name could have been legally omitted from the ballots. But no Democratic official wants to take advantage of the opportunity, and his name will appear just as though he had complied with the law.

It is being erroneously reported that Mr. Castner is the author of the present law in Kentucky requiring coal companies to pay their employees twice monthly. The author of this law is Mr. Bennett, Representative from Ohio county. Mr. Castner introduced a similar bill two weeks after this one went in, but the former was not heard of again.

Some of the peanut politicians are saying that Congressman Kehoe did not know the River and Harbor Bill had passed until three days afterward. A telegram from him was received here, announcing the fact, and it was filed at Washington within five minutes after the bill passed. The trouble with this three-days story is that it is too unreasonable to fool any one.

Congressman Kehoe's father joined the Union army and was killed in a terrible battle. His body was buried with hundreds of others, and his family never knew where it rested. The widow bravely and correctly reared her five small children to honorable manhood and womanhood. Today they are an honor to their parents, and their native city of Mayesville is proud of them.

them. The best citizens of that place, regardless of politics, say that Jim Kehoe has been clean, upright and industrious from his boyhood up, and that he is worthy of any trust that may be reposed in him.

The campaign has been abroad in the land, as usual. He is asserting that Congressman Kehoe is opposed to free schools, when the truth is that Mr. Kehoe favors not only the free school system, but advocates its betterment, and wants cheaper school books. Mr. Castner voted against the bill to provide cheaper school books in Kentucky, while in the Legislature last winter. This is no campaign lie, but is on the records for any one to see. Mr. Kehoe is decidedly opposed to mixed schools, however.

Kehoe is the only Congressman who ever made a personal investigation of the resources of the Big Sandy valley. It will be remembered that after his election he rode to the head of the two rivers and saw for himself the great wealth of the valley. He did this in order to be able to talk intelligently in Congress about it. This is the thorough manner in which he goes about all his work. He is very enthusiastic on Big Sandy river improvement and labored for the appropriation day after day during the last session.

Continuing the article about Congressman Kehoe, published last week, the Mayesville Bulletin says:

"Among the other important bills introduced by him and still pending in Congress is one for the appropriation of the sum of $100 for the funeral expenses of indigent soldiers, the bill providing for such payment in every case. Certainly no American citizen is mean enough to want to see an old soldier buried by public subscription or go to a potter's field, yet this is what has happened to several of them, but will never happen again after Mr. Kehoe's bill becomes a law. It is a just measure and should have been enacted into a law before this. If returned to Congress Mr. Kehoe will see that it is passed. By the passage of Mr. Kehoe's bill regulating the printing of seed franks, members have been saved much trouble, and the government will hereafter save annually more than his salary."

Hundreds of old soldiers and their dependents have been personally benefited by the interest taken and work done in their behalf by Mr. Kehoe at the Pension Office in Congress. No man could have been more faithful to them or more successful in his efforts, and certainly they will not fail to show their appreciation of his services, by rallying to his support in November. The old soldier who fills to vote for him stands in his own light. No man, woman or child ever wrote to him on any subject who did not receive a prompt reply and satisfactory attention.

Brilliant, brainy and attentive to duty, initiative in his work and successful in what he undertakes, temperate, moral and pure in character he is indeed an ideal public servant and his equal has seldom been seen in Washington. A native born Kentuckian, the builder of his own fortune and greatness, the father of an interesting family, a trustworthy friend, an intense American, a leading citizen and without a kindly, charitable man, it is no wonder that he is the leader of his party and idol of his people, and that he shall and will be returned to Congress there is no doubt. The people are not often given a chance to elect such men to public places. He has been tried and found unusually competent and worthy."

The mysterious railroad surveying is still going on all around us.

Heuben Patrick died Saturday after an illness of fever at his home at Salyersville.

At Ironton last Friday an N. & W. train killed Charles Davidson and Henry Gelfwine and injured Frank Gelfwine.

In Circuit Court at Paintsville, Levi Boulington was given one year in the penitentiary for stealing a ham of meat. He is 75 years of age and is the oldest person ever sent to the pen from Eastern Kentucky. The case of Music for murder of Ghost, on Greasy creek, was continued for the defendant.

Rev. J. T. French, the new pastor at the M. E. Church, South, was greeted by two good congregations yesterday, and preached to the edification and delight of all. His friends of yore say that he has old-time fervor of spirit, and six years of new conditions and good health have added greatly to his intellectual stock. His voice in song is still sweet. We congratulate his people on his appointment. —Ashland Independent.

The officers and members of the M. E. Church South, in this place are preparing to at once erect a parsonage for their new pastor. We learn that J. C. C. Muney is a son of Thomas Muney, a prominent minister of the United Baptist Church and a brother to John Sherman Muney, who killed W. W. Newson two months ago. Muney came in town and gave up to the officers, claiming he shot Hertran in self-defense.

The New Railroad.

The following has been handed us by a citizen:

The West Virginia and Kentucky Railroad is rapidly completing its surveys; several different routes have been located and the Company will soon be ready to decide which route will finally be adopted as the best. The road proposed enters the County from

Martin and follows Tag River to Louisa, passes Fallsburg, down

South-Tek to Boyd County.

Railroads are always a great benefit to every country, they are educators and developers. Vast sums are expended while they are building, thus adding to the prosperity of the country. When built they continue to bring large amounts of money into the country and furnish work to the small army of men necessary to run the roads.

The citizens of Lawrence reached by this road should do all in their power to decide in favor of the route that will be such a great benefit to them. Running through a section of the county at present entirely without transportation facilities, except at a great distance from their homes, it offers an opportunity that should not be allowed to escape. It increases the value of every farm through which it runs. The farmer will be able to ship his products directly to the markets of the large cities, thereby obtaining large prices, while at the same time still further increasing his profits

by saving the expense of hauling long distances to a shipping point.

This large increase in profit will far more than repay for the land needed to build the road.

But this is not the only material benefit gained by the property owner. The section of the county through which the survey was made abounds in coal and other valuable minerals. At present with no means of putting it upon the market, it is practically of no value. With a railroad giving an economical method of shipping, its value to the owner is hard to over-estimate. It is a common saying that, "One acre of coal is worth a whole farm," but to make this true the coal must get to market. To the people along its line this road offers a sure means of realizing on the wealth stored in the ground.

The road is before the people with a business proposition which is not only fair and just, but very reasonable, when the increase in property value it will bring is considered.

Will the people of Lawrence County take advantage of it? Let us hope they will grasp the opportunity that is presented to them.

No selfish consideration should stand in the way of the public welfare.
